PA newspaper reported that when Faris Ouda's mother heard he was trying to kill himself as a Shahid, he said to her: "Don't worry, mother, Martyrdom (Shahada) is sweet."

"At first, I asked his mother about Faris' childhood and she said: 'Faris participated in the Intifada and threw stones. I told him: 'A stone can't do anything.' He answered: 'My stone is a bomb that will blow up the Jews.' . . .

[His mother said]: 'Faris asked his aunt for the wreath we put on Martyr Shadi's body during the funeral and she gave it to him. My heart sank when I saw him and I asked him: 'Why did you bring the wreath, Faris?' He said: 'To put my photo on it.' I screamed: 'What photo?' He said: 'The Photo of Martyr Faris.' I started begging him to return the wreath to his aunt and told him, 'Our hearts are torn because of your cousin, don't scare me.' He answered: 'Don't be scared mother, Martyrdom is sweet and I am a sacrifice for Al-Aqsa [Mosque].'

When he said this I cried and told him: 'You're 14-years-old, still young.' He said: 'No. I'm over 20 and I want to put my photo on a wreath.' . . .

Faris' father continued: 'My son Sa'id came to my work and told me Faris was wounded. I asked him where he was wounded, and he told me [he was wounded] in the head and that he was taken into the operating room. I told him 'Praise Allah, Faris died as a Martyr.' I went to the Al-Shifa Hospital . . . and went in to [see] him. I laid my hands on him and told him, 'Congratulations on [your] Martyrdom you Faris (Faris in Arabic means 'knight'), you have accepted it and wanted it and it chose you, Martyr.''''
